

Dave is the founder of Enradius, a data and geo targeting ad placement organization. He is a business connector specializing in Location Based Marketing helping grow hundreds of businesses. Dave started his career in radio and television working with media icons like Glenn Beck, Tom Joyner and Howard Stern. The explosion of online media took him to AOL and Advertising.com where he consulted with large companies like Papa John's, Best Buy and Match.com. He believed regional businesses and smaller businesses could benefit from the same digital targeting techniques. He sits on the Boards of Goodwill Industries of the Chesapeake, Living Classrooms, and Catholic Charities. He has also written two Children's travel books, Where was I? Washington DC and Where Was I? New York
